

TRIBUTE TO PROF. ALSTON ROZARIO [1951-2021]

Prof. Alston Rozario, who had rendered many decades of valuable and remarkable service as an aided teaching faculty in the Department of Commerce from 19-06-1973 to 31-01-2009, has passed away on 12th July, 2021 at the age of 70 years. He served as Vice Principal of shifts 1 & 2, Dean of Commerce & Coordinator for shift 2, and the Academic Coach for the School of Commerce and Economics.

He proved himself to be an excellent teacher, able administrator and a good advisor to the faculty members and to the department. He was very supportive in the department routines and guided the junior staff members in handling the subjects in a comfortable way. The students were very fond of his teaching, had a special liking for his deliberations and appreciated the way he explained even difficult concepts in a simple way.

The funeral mass was held in the college church on 13th July, 2021 at 3.30 pm after which the members of the management and the teaching staff paid their respects to the professor. A program in memory of Prof Alston was organized virtually on 17th July, 2021 (Saturday) from 4.30 pm to 6.00 pm by the School of Commerce and Economics and the participants paid rich tribute to their beloved teacher and colleague.

The Department of Commerce places on record its deepest condolences to the family members and relatives of Prof. Alston Rozario. The college sincerely thanks him and his family for his 48 years of untiring service to the institution, to the student community and to the teaching fraternity of the Commerce Department. May his soul rest in peace.
