Review on the preparedness of SSR by Mar Gregorios College of Arts and Science

Date of Visit :13/10/21

Members of the Team:

Dr.R.Ravindhran, IQAC Coordinator, Loyola College (Autonomous), Chennai.

Dr.A.Xavier Mahimairaj, Former IQAC Coordinator, Loyola College (Autonomous), Chennai.

Objectives:

1. To examine the preparedness of the college for the accreditation.
2. To guide the college to prepare the IIQA and SSR as per the SOP of NAAC Accreditation Manual
3. To clarify on the quantitative and qualitative metrics wherever required.
4. To offer suggestions for the greater preparedness for the peer team visit

Visit Report:

On the day of visit, the heads of various criteria presented the report on qualitative and quantitative metrics. Each metrics were discussed in detail. The authenticity of the data, data template and supportive evidence as per SOP of the NAAC manual have been checked thoroughly to offer the appropriate clarifications and suggestions to strengthen the report.

Major Observations:

- 1) The college is ready with required reports, data and supportive proof on all metrics under all criteria of NAAC assessment and accreditation.
- 2) The college has been almost ready with IIQA and SSR. A little more data mining and fine tuning on qualitative reports must be completed to make the SSR comprehensive in all dynamics.

Recommendations:

- 1) On certain Quantitative metrics, the coordinator in charge of the criterion must do more data mining in order to strengthen the data.

- 2) All members in charge of preparation of the various data template are asked to create the link and supportive proofs as per the manual.
- 3) The Management is asked to provide more supports to trace the data and evidence from the various offices of the college more effectively.
- 4) A separate provision in the college server to hold all supportive proof and share the link of the same wherever needed in the SSR has been suggested.
- 5) The college website has to be updated with all data, link and various reports that are mandatory for the assessment and accreditation.
- 6) The team has been advised to go for the submission of IIQA after the complete preparation of SSR in every aspect.
- 7) It is suggested that after the successful submission of the SSR, a mock visit for the preparation of the college on peer team visit.

Conclusion:

The team members of the visit are happy with the progress of the college towards the process of their first assessment and accreditation. The teamwork and enthusiasm of the staff and management are highly laudable. This report has been shared with the management of the college for their further preparation. The management and IQAC office of Loyola College (Autonomous) assure their constant and continuous support to Mar Gregorios College of Arts and Science towards the completion of accreditation process.

Best Wishes to the Management, IQAC and Staff of Mar Gregorios College of Arts and Science.

The seminar on The Preparedness of Mentee Colleges for NAAC and NIRF, under the auspices of PARAMARSH, and organized by the Internal Quality Assurance Cell (IQAC) of Loyola College was inaugurated with a prayer song on 8 October 2021. Dr. R. Ravindhran, Convenor and IQAC Coordinator, welcomed the gathering of representatives of mentee colleges and extended members of IQAC, Loyola College, at LS Hall. He said that this seminar, conducted under PARAMARSH, a scheme for mentoring, sustains quality in higher education with the support of IQAC. Prof. Ravindhran observed that NAAC stimulates planning for national and international accreditation. The Jesuit hallmark and heritage of intelligence in recording and documentation will certainly aid in the process of NAAC preparation, he stated.

Introducing the dynamics of the seminar, Dr. P. Sagayaraj, Research Professor and Director, Loyola Data Centre, said the emphasis for preparedness is the key to success. He stressed that optimum immersion with optimum time for useful preparation is the key for success in NAAC accreditation. Prof. Sagayaraj highlighted that the mentor and mentee relationship should transform over the time from handholding to handshaking and eventually, lead to chain reaction. He said that with the cooperation of the faculty, the IQAC should move forward from good to better with the true Ignatian spirit of margis.

Rev. Dr. A. Thomas, S.J., the Principal, Loyola College, said that the IQAC members have to transform their everyday preparedness in family, social and professional life into the academic realm. Preparedness is a state of mind, an attitude and not an individual effort but an institutional one, he observed. The Principal said that the primary challenge was in preparing diverse mindsets with diverse levels and that this mission would become possible only through sheer will and commitment. The Principal reassured that the Jesuits and the Loyola College would accompany this journey of the mentee institutions.

The first session started with Dr. S. Alfred Cecil Raj, Controller of Examinations, St. Joseph's College, presenting the “Framework for Institutionalizing Quality through IQAC.” Dr. Cecil Raj shared that there is a need to evolve an internal quality system that could envision the contribution of the institution or its enhancement in the next 10 years. He said that a silent revolution was in the offing in the Indian educational institutions with the buzzwords - accreditation and ranking. He identified three pillars of this development as 1. Access and expansion 2. Equity and inclusion 3. Quality and excellence. Further he stated that if quality has to become the hallmark of higher educational institutions, the four conventional views of excellence has to be implemented – 1. Resources 2. Reputation 3. Outcome and 4. Context.

Further, Dr. Cecil Raj recounted that the quality assurance should 1. Focus on processes with purpose 2. Assign specific roles and responsibilities 3. Specify accountability at different levels and 4. Evolve strong monitoring, evaluation and feedback mechanisms. He outlined the activities of IQAC to be of two kinds – 1. Planning and preparation and 2. Data collection. Dr. Cecil Raj summarized that overall, the quality improvement methods should consist of 1. Total quality management 2. Continuous improvement 3. Benchmarking and 4. Organizational restructuring.

Dr. Bernad D' Sami, Director, LISSTAR, addressed the second session on "Achieving Academic Excellence" by making two references - the Jesuit concept of magis and the Fundamental Duties enshrined in Indian Constitution. He explained that the Latin term magis meant striving greater and greater and one of the Fundamental Duties mentioned in the Constitution was to strive towards excellence in all walks of life, individually and collectively. The Ignatian magis as an effort to open one's heart and make a holistic person and cura personalis insisting on individual care and concern are central to any reflections on excellence, he said. He elaborated that quality has no universal parameters and it is rooted in the environment and tradition in which it grows, aligned with time and milieu and with the project of nation building. Dr. Sami insisted that quality is purely an internal process and external agencies can only assist and play minimal role and not substitute the internal process. Therefore, NAAC requires a homegrown quality consciousness i.e., a cultivation of institutional culture where all actors are open to self-criticism and attentive to opportunities for improvement. Dr. Sami said that 21st century learners with different skill attributes and diversity in the levels of performance need a different pedagogical and assessment approach and there is a strong need to demythify the exams by allaying the fears. Students can either gain one of the transferable skills or multi-skills to move ahead in the career, he concluded.

At the end, the resource persons interacted with the participants in the question and answer session.

The seminar was compered by Dr. Tanya Pereira, Assistant Professor, Department of Plant Biology & Biotechnology, Dr. Judith Vijaya, Assistant Professor, Dean of Sciences, Department of Chemistry and Dr. Leema Rose, Assistant Professor, Department of B.Com Honours, introduced the resource persons.

Preparedness

Contents are relevant to the topic

To prepare ourselves for accreditation

I loved the second session where Dr. Bernard spoke about how the teaching methodology must vary according to the students.

I think it had a great impact on me personally.

The content

It was a excellent seminar. Being a mentor to my students got an idea the way to handle the students in an different perspective.

Thanks a lot for an excellent and wonderful seminar

Resource persons

NAAC experience shared by speakers

They hadn't discuss much about NIRF, the seminar was overall good

Both sessions

The guidelines given by the speakers had encouraged and enriched us to move forward to submit the SSR of our college successfully.

Everything was good

Thank you for the opportunity

Seminar was interesting

FACULTY DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM
CHRIST ARTS & SCIENCE COLLEGE,
KILACHERRY

04TH SEPTEMBER 2021

FACULTY DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM REPORT-

04th September 2021

The faculty development programme titled “Enhancing Quality Benchmark in NAAC Parameters” was conducted on 4 September 2021 at 10:45 am. The guest speaker Dr. John Milton, Head, Department of Advanced Zoology, Loyola College (Autonomous), Chennai delivered the keynote address on the curricular aspects of outcome-based learning. Outcome based education focuses on curriculum designing which consists of PEO's, PO, PSO's and COs, CD, OBE. Outcome-based learning can be assessed as direct assessments like continuous internal assessment and semester examinations. Teachers can evaluate student's outcome-based learning through direct assessment modes. Outcome based education attainment can be equated with co-attainment of earlier evaluation bloom's taxonomy of educational objectives inculcate all the teachers with three basic requirements, like these objectives viz, 1) cognitive 2) affective 3) psycho-motor. While applying the above two variations, attainment verifies self-appraisal mechanism, mission of the institution, vision of the college and PEO's, PO, PSO's and COS.

Part-I in outcome-based education requires program outcomes i.e. knowledge, skill attributes, programme specific outcomes aim to develop teaching pedagogy with global and national level of relevance. Every institution has its own vision & mission of the institution. A language teacher can teach English grammar through action, or OBE based curricular descriptor.

The entire program schedules can be applied in outcome-based learning by teaching and evaluating student's performance in CIA, semester examinations. Apart from this, teachers have to apply SMART way of teaching - Specific, Measurable, Achievable, Realistic and Time-bound. Every subject has a course description which includes learning objectives of course, learning outcomes of course. A dynamic lesson plan has to be prepared by the course teacher for each course.

There are various types of mapping in course attainment outcome. Teachers have to prepare question bank and blue print by applying bloom's taxonomy. After conducting all exams like CIA, semester exam, teachers have to give a rank for each student. This can be assessed with the following methods, mean, median, mode average deviation, quartile deviation and standard deviation. Finally, the rank correlation can be given to the students with attainment of all exams performance.

PART-II of outcome-based learning aims at direct assessment of UG theory courses. Question pattern should be prepared having one mark questions, two marks questions, five marks questions and ten marks questions.

The chief guest of FDP spoke about Research Innovation and Extension. Every research contributes content to teaching methodology. Research and teaching aims at student centered teaching. Any quality teaching draws from quality research. All researchers are committed and passionate to understand, explore and create. Science departments can apply for minor projects through UGC sponsorship. Applied Science departments may approach TANSCHÉ for funding projects. Indian Government has proposed research fund that can be used for 10 years in colleges. All the teaching professors are encouraged to publish their research articles in peer reviewed journal, UGC care listed journal. Every article in conference proceedings carries 110 points.

Significant benefits of research for both students and teachers are,

1. Students are motivated and participate in active learning, skill development and research.
2. Staff members can use their research papers for research mobilization and teaching preparation also.

Funding agencies like CSIR, UGC, DST-SERB are granting funds for researchers.

Dr. Sagayaraj spoke om research activities in Arts & Science disciplines. Research must be original in nature and have significant further scope. The first way to do research is to have a passion for research. Teachers can publish their own notes as research papers. There are two types of research,

1. Micro research
2. Macro research

Every department must sign a MOU-MEMORANDUM of understanding. Teachers can conduct conferences, organizing national, international conferences. Conferences proceedings would add weightage for their academic research. Physics department staff can research in the following fields,

1. Management of E-waste
2. Molecular Technology (non-government organization)

Research must possess both quality research and quantitative research. Teachers can avail research fund for their research and they can publish their articles in Indian citation index, Web of Sciences and Scopus.

The FDP concluded with a question-and-answer session and discussions from staff members. All the staff members participated with enthusiasm.

Don Bosco Arts and Science
College, Chennai
27th August 2021

Staff Orientation on Enhancing Quality Benchmark in NAAC Parameters
DON BOSCO ARTS AND SCIENCE COLLEGE, CHENNAI

27 August 2021

The Internal Quality Assurance Cell of Don Bosco Arts and Science College in association with Loyola College took an initiative to invigorate the staff members by organizing an orientation programme titled “Enhancing Quality Benchmark in NAAC Parameters” in the Bicentenary hall on 27 August 2021. The programme focused on providing a panoramic view of NAAC accreditation process.

Eminent scholars from Loyola College graced the occasion and shed light on the significance of NAAC accreditation. Three sessions – 1. Curricular Aspects – Outcome Based Education, 2. Research, Innovation and Extensions and 3. Institutional Best Practices and Outcomes were planned for the day.

An expert team from Loyola College consisting of Dr. R. Ravindharan, IQAC Coordinator, Dr. J. Joel Gnanadoss, Head and Assistant Professor, Dept. of Biology and Biotechnology and Member, Loyola LOCF, Dr. J. Madhavan, Dean of Research, Dr. P. Sagayaraj, Research Professor and Director, Loyola Data Center and Dr. A. Xavier Mahimairaj, former IQAC Coordinator, facilitated the sessions.

Rev. Sr. Dr. Josephine Anto, Principal, Don Bosco Arts and Science College, in her welcome address pointed out the necessity for student-centric, interactive and outcome-based teaching. She said that this programme would help the teachers and the institution to set benchmarks and work on a clear action plan towards achieving excellence. Rev. Fr. David Maria Selvam, Vice Principal and Administrator, provided an overview of the pedagogical practices of Don Bosco and highlighted its uniqueness.

Dr. R. Ravindhran, the IQAC Coordinator, Loyola College, briefed on the objectives of the orientation and enumerated the seven criteria of NAAC accreditation. Dr. J. Joel Gnanadoss, Head and Assistant Professor, Dept. of Biology and Biotechnology and Member, Loyola LOCF, demystified the intricate concept of Learning Outcome Based Curriculum Framework and elucidated the various aspects to be taken into consideration to achieve quantitative learning outcomes. He highlighted the necessity of having clear programme outcomes, programme specific outcomes, course outcomes and mappings so that the real time outcomes can be evaluated with the desired outcomes. Dr. J. Madhavan, the Dean of Research, encouraged the staff members to focus on research and crystallized its importance for accreditation process. He advised the staff members to be prudent in choosing the journals for publication and not be deceived by cloned journals. Dr. A. Xavier Mahimairaj, former IQAC Coordinator, stressed upon the relevance of best practices in the NAAC process.

PARAMARSH Review Meeting

A Review and Sharing of Experience of NAAC Accreditation Process

by Shri Krishnaswamy College for Women (Mentee College)

Under the PARAMARSH Scheme of UGC

11 August 2021

The meeting commenced with the newly appointed IQAC Coordinator Dr. R. Ravindhran welcoming and introducing the mentee colleges - Shri Krishnaswamy College for Women, Mar Gregorios College of Arts and Science, Don Bosco Arts & Science College and Christ College of Arts and Science. St. Louis College for the Deaf couldn't attend the meeting.

Dr. R. Ravindhran gave a warm welcome to all the mentee colleges present in the meeting. The IQAC Coordinator congratulated Shri Krishnaswamy College for the award of B+ Grade in NAAC Accreditation. He said that it is our pride that NAAC has accredited Shri Krishnaswamy College for Women, the first mentee college, with B+ grade successfully.

Dr. J. Radha, IQAC Coordinator, Shri Krishnaswamy College for Women, thanked and acknowledged Rev. Fr. Dr. F. Andrew, S.J., Accreditation Ambassador and Dr. A. Xavier Mahimairaj, former IQAC Coordinator of Loyola College for their immense efforts to train and assist them throughout the NAAC process. She said that even as the process of filling up the IIQA was not easy they managed to upload the document successfully in their first attempt itself due to the benefit of the meetings held on NAAC accreditation process. Dr. J. Radha explained the SSR preparation of the NAAC and briefed about the criteria in which they could score marks and others in which they missed out so that it is helpful for other colleges to avoid the drawbacks and rectify wherever necessary.

Rev. Fr. Dr. F. Andrew, Accreditation Ambassador, congratulated and appreciated Shri Krishnaswamy College for Women and expressed that it was a privilege and opportunity to help the mentee colleges to strategize appropriate programs to enable the institution to get accredited by NAAC within the period of one or two years. He gave recommendations to other mentee colleges that are not into the process and explained the need for it as UGC is serious about the NAAC Accreditation and recognition of college. It is also necessary to prove the quality of the college during the implementation of New Education Policy by the government.

Fr. Andrew remarked that Mar Gregorios College has almost reached 20 years and should not delay further in applying for the NAAC accreditation. Christ College, with 13 years, too should get motivated to apply for the NAAC process. Rev. Dr. F. Andrew said in future NIRF and funding will be linked, certain amount of reputation, funding and project are essential for the accreditation.

Mrs. S. Shantha, IQAC Coordinator, Mar Gregorios College, informed that they are going to submit the SSR by December 2021. Christ College is planning to submit the SSR by next year.

Dr. A. Xavier Mahimairaj provided a glimpse about the two-year NAAC process, UGC projects and the MHRD idea of PARAMARSH. He noted, three things to motivate the institutions: a. Managing accreditation as per New Education Policy b. 12B or autonomous status c. Subject the institution to SWOC, credit analysis, LMS, value added courses, projects and feedback from the stake holders.
